Real Talk: Race on Campus (Beth Balliro)

Beth Balliro, Assistant Professor in Art Education, stopped by to preview the film Real Talk: Race on Campus. Real Talk is a video booth film project comprised of 47 testimonials from members of the Mass Art community, including alumni, faculty, staff and students.

The testimonials were recorded in a student-commissioned video booth, designed to look like someone's living room, in order to provide comfort and intimacy and support them, while telling their stories.

After viewing the film, the group offered thoughts and reactions to the clip, as well as suggestions on how the film could be shared with other populations on campus.

The completed piece will be edited by MFA Film maker Darren Cole and shown during the Black Lives Matter Teach-In February 22nd -26th.
